DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 8/1/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Albert et al.

Albert et al disclose an article of clothing comprising at least one material (fig. 9); a flexible body attached to the article of clothing (502), at least one integrated circuit supported within the flexible body (col. 18, lines 51-67); and a flexible display element supported within the flexible body (col. 18, lines 51-67).

As for claims 2-12, 40, Albert et al further the flexible display element is permanently attached to the one or more materials (col. 18, lines 51-67, col. 19, lines 1-10), the flexible display element is sewn to the one or more materials (col. 18, lines 51-67, col. 19, lines 1-10), is adhesively attached to the one or more materials (col. 18, lines 51-67), a shoe (col. 19, lines 1-10), the article of clothing comprises a hat (col. 19, lines 1-10), article of clothing comprises pants (col. 19, lines 1-10), a belt (col. 19, lines 1-10), a wireless communication element (col. 15, lines 52-53), the circuitry displays advertisements (col. 16, lines 19-30), the circuitry displays promotions (col. 16, lines 19-30), the flexible body is removably attached to the article of clothing (col. 18, lines 51-67)

As to the applicant's arguments:

Albert does not teach or suggest a wearable device having at least one integrated circuit supported within the flexible body, and a flexible display element supported within the flexible body. Albert discloses having a wearable display that includes an article of clothing including an electrically addressable display incorporated into the wearable item .

Albert clearly discloses to the extent claimed in claim 1, a wearable device having at least one integrated circuit supported within the flexible body, and a flexible display element supported within the flexible body (col. 18, lines 51-67), as the patch (504) on the arm of the article of clothing, and as patches are inherently removable.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
